Fathers take part in the 2006 Father/Daughter Dance, sponsored by the Fort Leonard Wood Family Life Center and the Protestant Women of the Chapel. In its third year, the annual event has been a highly-praised gala on the installation. Organizers encourage fathers to use the dance and an opportunity to spend quality time with their daughters. This year's dance is scheduled from 7 to 11 p.m., Feb. 15, at the newly remodeled Nutter Field House.

Dance brings dads, daughters together

Popular event returns

By Derek Gean

Fathers, are you looking for the perfect opportunity to show your daughter how a lady should be treated? If so, the Father/Daughter Valentine Formal Dance may be the perfect event.

The dance, sponsored by the Fort Leonard Wood Family Life Center and the Protestant Women of the Chapel, is designed to promote healthy father/daughter relationships.

The event, themed "Thank Heaven for Little Girls," is scheduled from 7 to 11 p.m., Feb. 15 at Nutter Field House.

"The father/daughter Valentine dance invites fathers to give their daughters the experience of a first-class date," said Chap. (Maj.) Alex Brown, family life chaplain.

Organizers encourage fathers and daughters of all ages to take part in the event.

"We (also) encourage "father figures" to come so that young ladies with absent fathers will have an opportunity to attend," Brown said. "Last year an older brother escorted his two sisters because their fa-

Although moms can't take part in the dance, organizers welcome mothers to volunteer, or to attend if her father serves as her escort.

According to James Massery, the author who wrote the guidebook for such dances, "When fathers dance with their daughters, good things are bound to happen. When fathers ignore their daughters, or their sons, bad things will happen. This dance is intended to be a bridge of communication and respect between the generations."

Brown said the dance sends both verbal and non-verbal message to sons and brothers as well.

"I believe it's a safe bet that sons and brothers are watching their dads and learning how to respect girls," Brown said.

"This event has become an annual event simply because it works," he said. "It meets a need that both fathers and daughters have. This will be the fourth such event I have been involved with (and) in my entire career as a chaplain, and it has been the most successful activity I have seen. Moms should encourage their husbands to take their daughter, because of the powerful impact a father can have on his

GUIDON staff

The 2008 Fort Leonard Wood National Prayer Breakfast is scheduled for 6:30 a.m., Tuesday at the Pershing Community Center.

This year's keynote speaker is Chap. (Col.) Sonny Moore, who is currently the U.S. Army Forces Command chaplain. Moore, a Mississippi native, holds a Bachelor's degree from Delta State College, a Master of Divinity from New Orleans Baptist Seminary and is a graduate of the Command and General Staff College and Army War College. He has held a variety of positions in the Army, including serving as installation chaplain at Fort Rucker, Ala.

Organizers say Moore has a tremendous reputation for being a great speaker; He is a pastor, father, husband and grandfather of seven. He has a love for Soldiers and a passion for the Army.

National Prayer Breakfast finds its origin in the first "Presidential Prayer Breakfast" held in 1953, when members of the Senate and House prayer groups established it with President Eisenhower.

Each year since then the breakfast has drawn together the President, members of his cabinet, the Supreme Court, members of the Senate and Congress, the Diplomatic Corps, leaders in the fields of business, labor, education and science from every

CHAPLAIN'S CORNER

Seeking wisdom

By Chap. (Maj.) David McMillan
Special to GUIDON

We need to often re-access our lives and look to the future with renewed hope and determination. It is important we start with the right perspective.

There was such an opportunity for Solomon in the book of I Kings, Chapter 3. God appeared to him in a dream asking him what he wanted in his life. Solomon asked for a "wise and an understanding heart." God granted his request because he did not ask for riches, a long life or the death of his enemies.

Certainly Solomon faced challenges, as he was ruler of the entire nation. He recognized that he did not have all of the resources and wisdom to always know the exactly right path to follow.

We have wonderful moments when it appears we have made the right choice. We realize that these decisions are ones we had a lot of help with. There are also times when we focus on the wrong things and regret the steps we have chosen.

I have often used a prescription for knowing the right course that goes like this. Listen to the wisdom of others around us, go in open doors (shut doors are ones we cannot enter), and ask for the Lord's guidance to do the right thing.

We all face difficult choices. It is good to know that help is available in our faith communities, the scriptures and God leading us to the right place. Here is a prayer you may find helpful in the search for God's will this year for your life:

"O God, by whom the meek are guided in judgment, and light rise up in darkness for the godly: Grant us, in all our doubts and uncertainties, the grace to ask what you would have us to do, that the Spirit of wisdom may save us from all false choices, and that in your light, we may see light, and in your straight path may not stumble."
Amen.

(The Book of Common Prayer)

DeCA’s got recycling in the bag Dance

Defense Commissary
Agency News Service

FORT LEE, Va. — Reusable cloth bags are fast replacing “paper or plastic” as the choice for commissary customers.

The reusable bags, which cost 70 cents each, were introduced into commissaries in October and since then customers have purchased nearly 270,000 at stores worldwide.

“Commissaries have long been good stewards of taxpayer funds,” said Rick Page, DeCA’s acting director, “and with reusable shopping bags, we’re applying the same sort of thrifty approach to how we use the earth’s natural resources.”

DeCA’s reusable bag is made of sturdy mesh, sewn together from 100 percent polypropylene. They are strong enough to hold 30 pounds of groceries and approximately three-quarters of the bulk amount of a paper bag. The reusable bags are machine washable and can be recycled when no longer usable. Customers can find these bags on racks near the checkout at their local commissary.

Reusing bags saves the commissary money, which helps preserve the benefit by keeping operating costs down — costs that are paid with taxpayer dollars. In fiscal 2007, commissaries spent a total of $20,635,800 on plastic and paper bags combined. If just one-tenth of all commissary shoppers switched to reusable bags, the agency would save more than $2 million annually.

Customers always have the option of using their own reusable cloth bags. In addition, all commissaries allow customers to bring clean, sturdy paper or plastic bags to the commissary for reuse in bagging their groceries; however, all recycled bags must be clean and in good repair or the bagger cannot accept them. Whether you provide your own bags or return to your commissary with your DeCA cloth bags, just present them to the bagger immediately before bagging begins.

The dress code for the dance is a suit and tie, tuxedo, Class A or Dress Blues for fathers and Brown said mothers will know how to dress their daughters for a formal event.

Participants can expect plenty of music, dancing, refreshments and a photographer will be on site for photographs.

Tickets are $3 and are available at the Information, Ticketing and Registration Office, the Installation Chaplain’s Office or from individual unit first sergeants; there will also be a limited number of tickets available at the door.

For more information, contact Brown at 596.0088 or Delores Brown at 329.2915.
